U.S. Delivery Sales Regulations of Commercial Tobacco Products: A 50-State Review

The following chart is a snapshot of the U.S. landscape of state delivery sales regulations of commercial tobacco products* as of November 2025. It contains information based on a survey of current state statutes regulating tobacco product delivery sales in the 50 states, Washington, D.C., and the U.S. territories of American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The chart is divided into the following areas:

- Products Covered: This column identifies products covered by the delivery sales restriction or prohibition and notes if a state prohibits the sale of flavored tobacco products.
- Delivery Sales Permitted?: This column also includes exceptions (e.g., premium cigars exempt from delivery restrictions).
- Age Verification: This column includes only those age verification requirements that are part of a delivery sales statute.
- Packaging Requirements: This column includes container label requirements and related requirements such as child-resistant packaging when part of a delivery sales law.
- Retail License Required?: This column includes information beyond delivery sales statutes, namely, whether a state requires a license for tobacco retail sales in general. Note: a license may be required for some, but not all tobacco products.
- Penalties: This column includes penalties for violating a state's delivery sales law, but not violations of other laws such as flavor restrictions, minimum legal sales age laws, and licensing requirements. If a state does not have any delivery sales or requirements, we use N/A in the Penalties column.

This chart only covers laws at the state and territorial level, not local laws that might address delivery sales. Each law covered includes hyperlinks to free online resources with the cited authority. Please note that the parenthetical date in citations reflects when this scan was last updated.

* The Public Health Law Center recognizes that traditional and commercial tobacco are different in the ways they are planted, grown, harvested, and used. Traditional tobacco is and has been used in sacred ways by Indigenous communities and tribes for centuries. Comparatively, commercial tobacco is manufactured with chemical additives for recreational use and profit resulting in disease and death.
